DAY 90

It took 90 days and a lot of effort to bring this box of infant formula all the way to the camp. In an emergency breastfeeding saves lives, but sometimes that is not possible. Untargeted, donated infant formula often arrives to the camp damaged, expired, and contaminated.

We know donations come from a place of helping and compassion, but what other choices can we make to better help in this situation?

Refugee Camp:
Integrated Nutrition Point

The Cluster and partners work with mothers and families to identify their needs. Non-breastfed infants require specific, targeted support – untargeted donations of infant formula can cause illness and death. In an emergency, money donated to partners allow for a coordinated and appropriate response.

Financially supporting the GNC and partners is critical to create integrated nutrition points that provide safe, long-lasting support for families.
